

CHANGE COMES IN OVERNIGHT

Senator Burkett Denounces
Finance Committee

In Its Action On Philippine Tobacco Imports

Says It Is Playing Game of Petty Politics.

OWEN ROASTS TARIFF BILL

face with Chairman Aldrich to-day declared that its action looked to him like a "game of petty politics." He characterized this action as "an effort to hang the Senator from Wisconsin up in the air," and finally declared that this event afforded Senators a good opportunity "to vote a lack of confidence in the committee."

Philippine Tobacco.

Declaring that tobacco grown in the Philippine Islands was unfitted for the American market because of inferior quality, Senator Bulkeley, of Connecticut, opened the day's debate. He opposed the Philippine amendment and insisted that its enactment into law would do the Philippines no good. "Teach them," he said, "that the way to make a market for their tobacco, sugar or anything else is to produce a superior quality and there will be a natural demand for them."

The assertion was made in connection with a report by the committee reducing from 150,000,000 to 70,000,000 the number of cigars which may be imported free of duty.

Change Made Overnight.

This change had been arrived at by the committee at a meeting held early to-day and was the result of the representations of Senator Bulkeley, of Connecticut, with an important product of whose State the Philippine Importation would conflict.

Senator L. A. Follette had previously op-presented an amendment reducing the number to 75,000,000, and the Nebraska senator found in the action of the committee a discrimination in favor of Bulkeley against La Follette. This was the reason for this outburst, and he spoke with apparently strong feeling.

As soon as the committee had brought in its amendment Senator La Follette took the floor. Expressing gratification that the Finance Committee had re-extent of 5,000,000 less than was called for by his amendment, Mr. La Follette said he was encouraged to change his amendment so as to provide for the admission of only $6,000,000, and he did so Burkett Gets Wrathful.

It was then that Mr. Burkett took the floor. Roundly denouncing the Finance Committee, he declared that its action amendment was sufficient to cause Senators to lose confidence in it. The original amendment, he said, had been brought into the Senate as approved by the President, but in face of that fact the committee had brought in its recommendation for a reduction to 70,000,000 in accordance with Mr. Bulkeley's request.

He pointed out that the number was 5,000,000 below the reduction called for by the La Follette amendment and plaint. "This," he said, "is a matter too important to juggle with, and it looks to me like a game of petty politics."

No Mystery, Says Aldrich.

"There is no mystery about it," protested Mr. Aldrich, "and no politics except a desire on the part of the committee to do the right thing, and above everything else, to pass this bill."

"No disposition of that kind," promptly responded the chairman of the Finance Committee.

"It would not be possible for the committee to do that," said the Wisconsin Senator.

"I have cast a good many votes of lack tee," said Mr. Burkett. "What right has the committee got to report a bill and ask us to legislate upon it when they have not given it enough attention and investigation to justify them in bringing it in here? I submit the manner and method by which it has been done does justify us in taking the opportunity to vote a lack of confidence in this committee. This same sort of thing

Depew Has His Say.

Senators Dick, Gallinger and Depew defended the committee. Senator Depew doubted the real strength of the demand for tariff revision, and said if that demand had not been referred to in the Re-

Saying he had intended to vote for a decrease of the number of free cigars from the Philippine Islands, "without regard to the source of that suggestion," Senator Oliver said he proposed to vote for amendments without regard to whether they came from the committee or any Further replying to the criticisms Mr. Aldrich said:

"There are some men whose condemnation is the highest commendation." He declared he had done his duty in reference to this bill. He commended the course taken by the Republican members of his committee and did not object to those taking a course to conform to

Encouraged by the committee's action, Senator La Follette proposed another amendment to reduce the free importation of cigars to 60,000,000 annually, but this was defeated, 38 to 27.

Philippine Tobacco.

Mr. Bulkeley offered an amendment providing that the 300,000 gross tons of wrapper and filler tobacco to be admitted to the United States from the Philippines free of duty shall be "unstemmed," that the number of cigars to be admitted free shall be 70,000,000 instead of 150,000,000, and Senators Penrose, Jones and Fletcher, approving this proposed change as satisfactory to the tobacco interests of their States, Senator Aldrich promptly, on behalf of the Finance Committee, accepted these amendments.

The question of the independence of the Filipinos received attention in the Senate.
